

Understanding Solidarity through the Glasgow Rent Strikes 1915

lthough Rents were an issue in Glasgow by 1913 when John Maclean and The British Socialist Party set up the Scottish Federation of Tenants' Associations the Strikes did not start until May 1915. Many peaceful activities were used to prevent evictions and drive out the Sheriff's officers with constant meetings in an attempt to be one step ahead of them. "All manner of communication was used to summon help, everything from drums, bells, trumpets and anything that could be used to create a warning sound to rally the supporters who were mainly women as the men were at work in the yards and factories at these times. They would then indulge in cramming into closes and stairs to prevent the entry of the Sheriff's officers and so prevent them from carrying out their evictions. They also used little paper bags of flour, peasmeal and whiting as missiles directed at the bowler hatted officers." Radical Glasgow website about the 1915 Rent Strike

The Woodcraft Folk recreated those times from eyewitness accounts through their craft work. They made – a papier mache Sheriff Officer, Window Campaign Posters, cast votes in their Union, and visited the key streets and districts by weaving the wool network. They recreated noises and actions used to stop delivery of the Notices of Ejectment.

Workshop 1 – Rent

Young people explored the theme through discussion of their own experiences at home of the following:

What is a home? What is Rent? What is a Tenant? What is a Landlord? Who coexists in the Rent relationship? Who is powerful who is vulnerable? What is a Factor? What is a Notice of Eviction? What is Court? What is a Sheriff Officer?

Activity ; Papier mache 3D model of Factor Neilson, who owned many of the Linthouse and Partick properties.

Discussion – How can tenants create Rent Resistance to stop being thrown out of their home?

Activity Materials

Workshop 2 -Fake ID's

Often described through the roles and lives of key players evidence indicates that tenants themselves were the first to start off Petitions and spread the word. [Melling,1983;64] Therefore in teaching the Rent Strike History the role of unknown and often forgotten masses of people is crucial. This workshop gave young people the opportunity to act out Fake ID's taking on the daily routines of well known and unknown activists. Using coloured wool they followed the routines of their Fake ID Character moving around and hooking up the wool strands at identified location zones created around the room. Some Fake Characters delivered milk or attended school or work, and others attended meetings or other social events. In this way they could build up a visible experience of a network as their lives interlinked the wool strands creating a community weave where trust, information, direct action could be passed on.

Activity: Identified locations around the room, balls of wool different colours, Fake ID Cards

Solidarity

"Everyday established local networks were used by speakers to spread the word like the back court washhouse or the co-op meetings, the 'vibrancy of women's organising and strong lines of continuity over time and across different issues.' [J.J.Smyth].

Meeting Places where trust and information could be built.

These networks were physically woven with strands of coloured wool to signify the growing tight solidarity between the individuals and families who travelled between them such as;

The Tenants Meetings	Carpet Factory
Glasgow Women's Housing Association	Amalgamated Society of Engineers
Independent Labour Party	Steamie at Harhill Street
The Co-operative Movement shops	Milners, Burleigh Street
Independent Labour Party	Telephone Exchange
Scottish Co-Operative Women's Guild	National Union of Miners
The Suffrage Campaign	Public Baths - Harhill Street
the Peace and Anti War movement	Ibrox Garage Transport Union Meeting
Shipyards- Fairfields	Clarion Scouts Cycling Club
Engineering works	Socialist Sunday school
Thermotank Engineering, Helen Street	Rope Works , Helen Street
Amalgamated Society of Shipwrights	Gas and General Workers Union
Electrical Trades Union	National Federation of Women Workers
Educational Institute of Scotland	Industrial Workers of the World
Associated Horsemen's Union, Greenock	Dock, Wharf, Riverside and General
Albion Motor Works, Scotstoun	Workers' Union of Great Britain

Workshop 3 – War and Government Munitions Factories

Part 1-This workshop built upon the previous experience of building trust through a social network to look closer at the working lives of the Fake ID Characters. Their roles in various War Industries –

Amalgamated Society of Engineers

Shipyards, Engineering works, Motor Works and so on made them powerful if they threatened to withdraw their labour or down tools. Young people were given Union Membership cards turning the individual into a much larger and powerful force. I am 20,000 people. An injury to one is an injury to all.

Part 2; Stop the Sheriff Officer!– The helpful design of the Tenement Close was discussed and how history records that the families organised themselves against the issue of the Notice of Ejectment. Fake ID's from previous workshops had allocated roles; Tenant, Union member, Lookout, Alarm Raiser, Secretary, Blockader, Demonstrator. In this Drama, the Landlord tries to increase the rent by using the law to serve a Notice of Ejection to the Tenant- the other characters must organise themselves to prevent this being delivered.

Activity; Lookouts raise alarm - Pots, Pans, Rattles, Blockades arrive with prams to the close - Flour bags, Prams, Demonstrators block the entrances- at times workers in the Yards downed tools.

Things reach a head on 17th November at the Small Claims Court in Glasgow at the trial of 18 workers for eviction following rent arrears and Eviction notices. John Maclean and Helen Crawfurd amongst others made speeches. Sheriff Lee telephoned Lloyd George, Defence Minister and success is measured by the withdrawal of the court procedure– with the Act later passed to freeze all rents across Britain to pre-war levels – The Rent Restriction Act.

Workshop 4 Role Play

This workshop celebrated the Centenary of the Rent Strikes 1915 by re-enacting the strategies of Eviction recorded in various accounts from the time.

Activity - Young people used the Papier Mache Factor to re-enact a case where flour and pease-meal was pelted at him, a 'rammy' was caused.
